A Plea For Greater Educational Facilities.

"The riches of the Commonwealth Are free, strong minds, and hearts of health; And more to her than gold or grain, The cunning hand and cultured brain."

Realizing this, the writer of this article was constrained to make a plea for increased facilities. For the last decade, educational progress in the South has been general, and it has been very marked in our own sister States adjoining Kentucky. Let us put Kentucky in the vanguard by encouraging every forward movement, and more especially our recent new laws. Public High Schools are experiencing an uplift and may be greatly benefited by the State-wide movement if each one will look forward and not back and lend helping hand. Let our own favored country, one of the original three, be a factor in this work. If there be a strong pull and a pull all together, it will not be a long pull before it can be said that Stanford or Lincoln county has one of the leading county high schools. And all because she went early and earnestly to work. Let us not permit the new law to be a Waterloo; for the mind and soul of the child is the price we pay for our educational Waterloo. Some one may say, the old law is good enough for me. Every advance, educationally or otherwise, is made by a struggle.

Do not choose the "line of least resistance," and follow old codes because most convenient, but look into the future and put principle and public good before convenience. Let not humanism or future good be sacrificed to the neoplatonism or greed of the present. It may be said that our environments are such that we can not change or revolutionize the school law. To this, it may be answered that the human race has developed so far in its progress through the ages, as to make environments to suit its present needs. Admitting this to be true, it behoves the present generation to form a more splendid educational environment, and thus pay an untold debt to the children of this and future time. It has been said that no opposition to the new law has been found except where it is not understood. The county superintendents who object, find their basis for objection in the fact that it entails more labor, or their crystallized habits of thinking make it impossible for them to view with approval any new or forward step. A feeling of altruism and universal brotherhood is characteristic of this age and let us harbor it in part and promulgate it largely.

All who note educational progress, will remember the "whirlwind campaign" launched by our up-to-date State superintendent. That was an educational revival, but like all revivals, its true value lies in results and not in fuss and fury, lasting only through the few days of the meeting. To allow any part of our great educational system to lag on account of neglect or lack of right sort of interest, is to pay a high penalty for failure.

Profiting by the experiences of the past, we should rise upon stepping stones of our almost dead illiterate past, and strive to achieve greater things.

The reader may wonder what is the purpose of this article. First, it is to stir up more interest in school work, and next to encourage all interested in education to work more diligently for the educational betterment of our country, by the establishment and maintenance of a county High School. With our educational forces divided we are weakened, but united, all the hosts of ignorance can not daunt us. Then let us unite in trying to carry out the new law in full to the letter. Do not let the gathering birds of prey, should there be any such in our midst, foist a plan not in harmony with State codes.

What do we wish to do? Let us first hear the law—Chapter 8, section 98; school laws of Kentucky:

"Within two years after the passage and approval of this act, there shall be established by the county board of education of each county one or more county high schools; provided there is not already existing in the county a high school of the first class. If such high school already exists, and if the county board may be able to make such an arrangement with the trustees or board of education of said high school as will furnish to the pupil completing the rural school course, free tuition in said high school, then said high school may be considered as meeting the purpose of this law without the establishment of another high school. The county boards are hereby given full power and authority to make such contracts as they may deem necessary for establishment and maintenance of such high schools for the joint use of the county and such city or town. The first county high school to be established in the county shall be located at the county seat, provided there is not already existing in the county seat a high school of the required grade."

The Stanford High School is the one school in the county maintaining a full four years' course, according to the last school directory of the State, just issued by the State superintendent. All interested should read Chapter 8 in full for complete information.

Our purpose is herein set forth. State Supt. Crabbe says in a letter to us that our high school course is acceptable to the State Board. Then let the county board, who knows its duty and will do it, appear before our fiscal court and ask them to make a levy and also make arrangements with the Graded School board for the establishment and maintenance of said County High School. Many of the counties have already made their levies. Some have made the full amount of 20 per cent. Let every one who has, at heart, an interest in the betterment of our boys and girls, see to it that the hopes of this new law spring on exultant wings of action. Can any one be so nepotic or so utterly disregardful as to deny this countless heritage to our boys and girls of a more substantial character?

What is the utilitarian view? Has it a benefit? My answer is, it has. There are many, but we wish to speak of the High School section, an excerpt of which has been presented. To every child in Lincoln county, who has passed the grades or common school branches, there will be given an opportunity to attend a first-class high school free of charge. It will centralize and unify the school interests of the county by giving all, instead of a few, an interest in the Public County High School. It will disseminate the spirit of advanced education.

It will be to the advantage of all concerned to combine the County High School and the Stanford High School.

Why? First, from an economic standpoint. The same management can govern both and there will be a saving of at least $700 or $800. In the next place, Section 98 of the new law suggests that the county board may make arrangements with the local board of education for uniting the interests and thereby establishing and maintaining a High School of the first class for use of both city and county. It has been said that economy is a splendid virtue when principle and public good are not at stake.

PREACHERSVILLE.

Born, to the wife of Rev. F. D. Palmer, a boy.

The select school taught by Miss Lizzie Pettus at Masonic Hall here is progressing finely.

J. D. Horton had a fine mare to get eat on wire. P. E. Parrish sold a fine driving horse to Monte Fox for $225. William Aker, of Lexington, bought J. L. Kennedy's home here for $850. The fruit crop is not killed yet as Uncle Henry Blankenship was hauling in a cider mill.

Mrs. Ona Naylor and Miss Katie Payne visited Miss Maggie Bell. C. B. King, of Norman, Okla., is visiting friends here. E. R. Holtzclaw is at White Oak. We hear he has not found any location yet, and hope he will come back to Preachersville to live as he is an A 1 citizen.

Master William Blankenship is convalescent. Mrs. Ellie Thompson has been quite ill. Mrs. Mary Blankenship continues very poorly. Mrs. Levi Bell is slowly recovering from an attack of heart trouble. The three pneumonia patients at the home of August Bartles, at Griffin Station, are better. John McGinnis, of White's Mill, is quite sick.

Mr. F. F. Cummings plowed up an old stone hand mill on his farm a few days since. It was found where Joseph Petrus, a pioneer, built his home in the latter part of the 18th century, having come from Virginia. These mills were a common household utensil before the advent of the community grist mill, driven by water or horse power.

One dark, rainy night recently, a young man out coon hunting saw a bright sulphurous looking light, illuminating the immediate vicinity of a tobacco plant bed, and being apprehensive of the night rider's lash, took a "bee line" for home at a 2:40 gait. He says every bush heap and briar patch was in his way. On being told it was a "Jack-o'-lantern," he said "it was too skeery to stay."

Sow the seed, withdraw the curtain, clear the way.

In no better way can the educational horizon be cleared than by enforcing present laws. Educational day is dawning in Kentucky.

"Aid the dawning, tongue and pen; Aid it, hopes of honest men;

Aid it, paper; aid it type;

Aid it, for the hour is ripe,

And our earnest must not slacken into play.

On Saturday there will be opened for traffic the Virginia Railway, built by H. H. Rogers, the Standard Oil magnate. The road is 443 miles in length, beginning at Deepwater, West Virginia, and having its eastern terminal on tidewater at Sewall's point, near Norfolk, Virginia. The road traverses one of the richest bituminous coal regions in the country, and has been so constructed with heavy superstructure and low grades as to deal efficiently and cheaply with the heaviest traffic. The opening will be a big event and it will be fittingly celebrated.

OLLIE JAMES, in his speech in the House of Representatives, hit the framers of the Payne tariff bill hard. He declared that the government was undertaking to guarantee profits to the manufacturers, but no one had suggested guaranteeing anything to the physician, the lawyer or the laborer. Mr. James took up a number of the schedules and pointed out the unfairness of the rates. He was liberally cheered when he finished.

THE tariff debate in the House of Representatives Tuesday was made notable by the speech of Representative Kitchin, of North Carolina. He attacked his democratic colleagues, who are seeking protection for industries in their own districts as vigorously as he did the republicans. Though North Carolina is a big lumber State, he urged the admission of lumber without duty.

STORE BURGLARIZED—Cummins & Wearen's store was broken into from the rear Monday night and some $40 worth of goods were taken. Marshal Lair and his bloodhounds were phoned from Hustonville and they arrived about 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. They trailed to the barn of Mr. Will Stone and to a number of other places, but by this time it was generally known that Will Mershon and Sam Mullins, the latter colored, were the guilty parties. The former was found at his home and the goods recovered, and the Negro, who had left his old clothes in the store and dressed up from head to foot in Cummins & Wearen's best, was caught near Boneyville. They were both placed in jail. As each is only about 15 years old, they will more than likely be sent to the House of Reform, where it is hoped they will learn to mend their ways.

Miss E. E. Smith, who is a teacher of the violin in Caldwell College, Danville, will give two selections. She is a virtuoso and no one need apprehend disappointment. She has played with much credit in recitals in Cincinnati and elsewhere. Hear her on that night.

OUR old friend and former county-judge, Judge Ezra S. Gooch, of Somerton, is a candidate to succeed himself as police judge of that city. During the present term he has not missed a day from his office and he has in every way made a most satisfactory official.

We don't know who is opposing him but we sincerely believe that it would be to Somerset's interest to elect Judge Gooch again. The evil doers are opposing him, we are informed, and that is the very best reason why he should succeed himself.

HUBLE.—John P. Hubble, one of Lincoln county's substantial and good citizens, died at his home near Turnerville Tuesday evening after an illness of a week of pneumonia. He is survived by his wife, who is a daughter of the late Isaac Cowan, and five children. He was 58 years old and since a boy had been a consistent member of the Christian church. He was an exceedingly clever man and his death is greatly deplored by his neighbors and host of friends. The burial will take place in McKinney cemetery at 11 o'clock this Friday morning, after brief services at the grave by Mr. J. C. McClary.
